- Each person must present a ticket at the door.
- If you choose to attend the free lecture, please arrive a little before 6pm. You will be asked to sit near the stage. After the lecture you will move to your regular seats.
- If you arrive after the lecture begins, you are still welcome to join in.
- Seating for the performance will begin by 6:30 pm.
- You will be directed to specific areas as you enter. Follow the instructions of the ushers.
- The performance lasts approximately two hours, with one intermission. Ask young people to use the restroom before entering the auditorium or during the intermission, not during the performance.

Parents -- It is not recommended that you bring children under the age of 4. However, if you do bring young children – please remove any child that is making a fuss or disrupting the experience for other audience members. There are monitors in the lobby for viewing.

Requests to chaperones with students:

Please ensure all are on their best behavior.

- No whistling or yelling in the theatre. Excessive or “silly” clapping is also not appropriate.
- Disruptive students may be asked to leave, and a chaperone will have to accompany them.
